

Norcal 388 modified for 17 meters

Asterisked components are additions, with no provision on the printed circuit board. These components must be added with flying leads. In some cases, surface mount components were used.

Some printed circuit traces must be cut – there are no notes on this schematic showing mods to these traces.